WAGES OF SIN IS DEATH.

IN HER New Orleans jail cell, "Marion King" the young woman who fatally knifed John I. Pierce, her playboy paramour, during a drunken quarrel in a cabaret, sadly reflects over the tangled web of circumstances that led up to the death of her lover by her own hand.

According to her statement, "Marion King," had been a newspaper writer, and her name is fictitious. She admits she was a drug addict. Morally she had sunk to a life of shame. "Marion King" asks no pity for herself. In her hour of repentance she seeks only to shield her real identity in order that her family will be spared the disgrace that is hers . . . alone.

The wretched young woman is still in her early twenties. Perhaps an understanding jury may give her a new lease on life. "Marion King" (whomsoever she may be) has proven that pride and decency is still stronger in her soul than the strangling vampire of dope and drink which directed her downfall. Perhaps she is more to be pitied than condemned.

THE Greek Colony of San Antonio celebrated Greek Independence Day on March 25th. The celebration is held each year to pay tribute to those who gave their lives in the cause of Greek independence. Appreciation was voiced for the signing of a treaty of amity between Greece and Turkey in 1933.

TO THE song about potatoes are cheaper, tomatoes are cheaper, etc., can be added, "marriage licenses are cheaper in San Antonio." Announcement was made by the county clerk that the cost of "tying the knot" had been reduced from $2.50 to $1.55. A 95 cent refund will be paid all who have purchased marriage licenses since last February 13th.

AN OPEN air artists' fair is planned during Fiesta San Jacinto week beginning April 21st. The exhibition of art will be conducted in a downtown park, and artists will display their work along the sidewalk. Oils, water colors, etchings, tiles, crayon, pastels, wood carvings, iron work, batiks and pottery will be on sale. It is planned to make this an annual feature of the Fiesta celebration.

OUT in wide open spaces of Eagle Pass, Texas, a ranch owner has discovered a modern way to combat the ravages of coyotes that had been slaughtering his large herd of goats. Unsuccessful in his attempt to locate the pack of coyotes on horseback due to the thick cactus and mesquite growth, the rancher hired an airplane and pilot armed with a repeating shotgun the rancher climbed into the plane. Circling over the vast grazing lands, the goats were located. On the outer edge of the flock were several coyotes. The pilot headed the plane eastward, and the rancher opened fire with telling effect. This was repeated several times until all the coyotes had been killed.

VISITORS to the reptile garden at Breckenridge Park ask questions about snakes. Attendants found that on an average every one asked the same information concerning the life and habits of the snakes. In order to save their breath the following facts were printed, and handed to visitors:

Snakes neither sting nor bite with their tongue.
A rattlesnake does not have to be coiled to strike.
Snakes cannot close their eyes because they have no eyelids.
A snake has had seen there if it hears with its tongue.
No snake stings with its tail.
On level ground a rattlesnake rarely strikes over two-thirds of its length.

Alligators have broad, blunt snouts, and the crocodile's snout is slender and pointed.

DICK RYAN, 24, of Detroit, wanted to be a cowboy. Dick didn't know much about cowponching—only what he had seen in the wild west pictures. But he had spent six years in the national guard, and had a horse by the name of "Major." Dick RYAN loved his horse. Finally, last October 27th, he decided to saddle up "Major" and strike out for West Texas. After traveling 2,300 miles the pair arrived in San Angelo, last week.

Unless the thief who stole four cases of sample shoes from the automobile of a shoe salesman is one-legged he will be mighty disappointed when he opens his loot—the shoes were all for the left foot.

THE Kilgore, Texas, Daily News News recently issued a 238-page edition, composed of 27 sections. The special edition was devoted to a review of the East Texas oil industry covering the past four and one-half years.

BIDS FOR PAVING SHORT CUT ROUTE TO GULF COAST OPENED AT BATON ROUGE

R. B. Tyler & Co., Louisville, Lowest Bidder at $97,687—
Sand Bituminous Pavement to Be Constructed—
Will Shorten Distance From N. O. 22 Miles

A press message from Baton Rouge Wednesday says bids were received by the Louisiana Highway Commission Tuesday for surfacing 8.275 miles of road between Pearl-rigole and the Rigolets on the New Orleans-Gulf Coast Highway. When the surfacing is completed, in about five months, the distance between New Orleans and the Mississippi Gulf Coast will be cut by about 22 miles.

At the same time the commission received bids for the widening of 3.532 miles of embankment between Shreveport and Kenner on the Baton Rouge-New Orleans Highway. The remainder of the embankment between the two points is later to be widened and the whole surfaced with concrete.

The bids for surfacing the Pearl-rigole-Rigolets embankment were substantially under the estimates made by engineers of the state and of the government, which is paying for the cost of the present project. A sand bituminous pavement is to be constructed. The pavement is to be seven inches in thickness and be constructed by mixing asphalt with the sand now in the embankment and with some other sand which will be hauled in.

For the construction of the project R. B. Tyler of Louisville, Ky., bidding $97,687, presented the low proposal and T. Smith Engineering and Construction Company of Jacksonville, Fla., bidding $112,945, was second.

For the construction of the airline project the bid of T. L. James and Company of Ruston, amounting to $89,983, was low, and the bid of Forcum-James Company, Pineburg, Tenn., amounting to $105,095, was second.

Boy Scouts From Bay St. Louis Are Visitors to New Orleans

Boy Scouts of the two Bay St. Louis troops motored over to New Orleans last Saturday morning and were in the big city in ample time for the big scout circus entertainment given that evening at 6 o'clock in Loyola Stadium. The day was spent in visiting the city, under care of adult guides and the boys, many of whom had gone around for the first time, enjoyed the various points of interest.

Capt. Pears and Scoutmaster Edw. I. Jones say the boys enjoyed every moment of the day and missed nothing of the circus. When the late night hour came and the circus had become a thing of the past (but not in memory) the scouts were tired and glad to call it a day. They were expressive of their appreciation of the trip and loud in their praise and that in no unmistakable tones.

Celebration of Third Anniversary at "Uncle Charlie's Nite Club"

Celebrating the third anniversary of his beautiful and popular Nite Club, "Uncle Charlie" Breath received the congratulations of the many who graced the interior of the club, with its modernistic decoration, Saturday night.

Jack Weber and his aggregation of musicians, former members of theater orchestras, supplied the best of music and to the rhythm of various selections the crowd danced until the closing hour of 3. Three cakes were awarded to that many persons, serving as entrance prizes. The cakes were large, iced in decorative formation of icing and three candles on each completed the decoration.

During the three years Mr. Breath has served his patrons continuously each and every Saturday night—without interruption, never missing a week-end, regardless of times, conditions, etc. And in return the public has patronized his place of clean and wholesome amusement, well known to all. It is refreshing to note that there is a place of amusement in town where ladies and gentlemen may go for a pleasant evening. Mr. Breath and his patrons have made it so.

EVARISTE BOURGEOIS, LONG-TIME WAVELAND RESIDENT DIES, AT 83

Was Father of Mayor Thos. J. Bourgeois of Waveland, And City Commissioner W. L. Bourgeois of Bay St. Louis

A native of Waveland, aged 83 years, Evariste V. Bourgeois, passed away Friday, March 22, at 11 o'clock A. M., at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Bordage, Beach Boulevard, Waveland, following an illness.

The deceased was well and widely known. For over fifty years he was engaged in the meat market business, on the beach, head of Market street. In fact, his market had been located at that point for so long a period that the street took on the name of Market. He was known to generations who had visited and resided in Waveland as summer visitors and residents.

He was the beloved husband of the late Rosa White, father of Walter and Phillip S. Bourgeois, Mrs. Edwina A. Harn, Mrs. Robt. Dubuc, Mrs. George Geisler, all of New Orleans, La., and Thomas J. and Placide Bourgeois, and Mrs. A. J. Bordage of Waveland, Miss., Joseph D. Bourgeois of Gulfport, Miss., W. L. Bourgeois, Bay St. Louis, Miss., brother of Mrs. Emma Payard of Bay St. Louis, Miss.

Two of his sons held official positions of trust locally—Thos. J. Bourgeois for 18 years mayor of Waveland and at present serving an additional four year term. Wm. L. Bourgeois, residing in Bay St. Louis, is a member of the city board of commissioners, and for thirty years or more a leading merchant of this city.

The funeral, Saturday afternoon, was largely attended. Rev. Father M. J. Costello, pastor of St. Claire's church, Waveland, officiated at the funeral ceremony, with interment in the family burial plot in Cedar Rest cemetery, Bay St. Louis. Many floral offerings marked the last resting place.

The death of this venerable citizen removes from this section one of the older and best known residents of the Bay-Waveland section. He was the head of a large family, children who have grown and taken their respective places in life's estate, men and women of prominence and who live to honor the memory of this father and citizen as one of exemplary type. He was well and widely known and although he had long passed his allotted scriptural span of life, his passing away causes wide and general regret.

CRYSTAL COFFEE CO. OPENS HEADQUARTERS STORE IN BAY CITY

Store on N. Beach Blvd. to Formally Open Saturday—Public Invited

Bay St. Louis will add another business establishment to its roster this week with the opening of the Crystal Coffee Stores on North Beach Blvd.

The company enjoys a fine reputation for its particular blends of coffees and expects to treat even the most discriminate coffee drinkers to excellent blends of greater satisfaction.

The Crystal Company had been doing an institutional business on the Gulf Coast and in short time the reputation of its coffees had spread and it was found advisable to establish a store here for the convenience of its customers.

The store itself is an example of neatness and spic and span seems to be the password. An immense grinder grinds coffee before you to suit your taste, and mixture of chicory is made for those customers who like the dark cup of coffee it produces. As far as varieties, the company even so far as features mocha and java blends. It is said that whatever your coffee taste, or whatever you might want can be had in the Crystal Coffee Stores.

In an interview, Mr. Charles L. Gambel, Gen. Mgr., says: "It was very gratifying on the business that we had secured in the Bay St. Louis territory without representation here such as our store. We felt that the people here on the Gulf Coast wanted to enjoy fine coffees and we established here. Then too, we felt that an established place of business would sort of place us in closer contact with the folks here and tend to show that we are here to stay."

For the busy housewife who lives too far away or is too busy to go down to the store, a home delivery service is offered customers at no additional cost. The company issues profit sharing coupons with each package which are redeemable for either coffee or valuable premiums at its store. Many of the housewives will find just what they have wanted in the displays at the store.

W. R. Boyer, an old resident of Bay St. Louis is manager of the store. Mr. Boyer is well acquainted on the Gulf Coast invites his many friends to drop in to see him.

As a Saturday feature, Crystal Coffee Stores give lagniappe of two pounds of Crystal Sugar to the customer whose sales tickets amount to one dollar.

Memorial Services at Gulfport For Miss L. Nelson, Pass Christian

Miss Loretta Nelson, life-long resident of Pass Christian, who served her community and the Gulf Coast in general in unselfish work in order others might benefit, and a public-spirited worker, who passed away last year, was remembered at Gulfport Tuesday evening. Memorial services were held on the ground of King's Daughters hospital by members of the hospital board of which she was a member at the time of her death and on which she had served for several years.

A report from Gulfport says that a large number of friends and relatives of Miss Nelson from Gulfport and Pass Christian were in attendance for the memorial. A mimosa tree was planted in memory of Miss Nelson, this tree being her favorite.

Mrs. Carl Gates, president of the hospital board, presided at the memorial service, the program for which had been arranged by Mrs. P. S. Dodge, Mrs. R. S. Dinsmore and Mrs. C. A. Sheely. Rev. W. J. Leech, pastor of St. Paul's Catholic Church, Pass Christian, Miss Nelson's pastor, led the invocation. Mrs. Rucks Yeager read a tribute to Miss Nelson which had been written by Mrs. R. S. Dinsmore. The members of the board participated in the planting of the mimosa tree which is located on the north side of the hospital grounds. The members led in the King's Daughters Benediction, and a closing prayer was made by Rev. P. S. Dodge, pastor of Grace Memorial Baptist church, Gulfport.

Miss Nelson was well-known in Bay St. Louis, an active worker in the fields of religious faith. She was an aunt of Miss Jane Lang, Pass Christian.

AMATEUR PROGRAM AT COLLEGE SUNDAY ATTRACTS BIG CROWD

Audience Enjoys First Entertainment of the Kind Given in Bay St. Louis

A large audience greeted the amateur entertainment presented Sunday afternoon at S. S. C. Gymnasium under auspices of Parents' Association, and which proved of interest and amusing in more ways than one. There was no lack of entries and it was necessary to run the program on a schedule time as close as possible.

Arthur A. Scaife, president of local Rotary Club, was master of ceremony, which part he acquitted himself with ability and cleverness. Through the courtesy of Gus E. Tomplet, Union street, radio dealer and well versed in his line, a loud speaker was installed and every word by performers was audible to all parts of the large hall.

An outstanding feature of the afternoon was S. S. C. Orchestra, Bro. Romauld, director. This is one of the best and more complete organizations of its kind we have heard at the college. It is veritable music by musicians despite the youth of the players.

The program on the stage consisted of various and sundry numbers, impersonations from Shirley Temple and up and down the list of movie and other entertainers.

Young Maxine Strong as Shirley Temple was easily the best number and it was evident from her appearance that the first prize, would go to this little miss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Strong, residing in Union street.

Other prizes were awarded to:

First prize—Maxine Strong as Shirley Temple.

Second prize—The Boswell Sisters, Margaret Perre, Margie Scaife, and Josie Scaife.

Third Prize—Victor Gonzalez in Spanish Contest.

Fourth Prize—Edward Barry, as Joe Penner.

Fifth prize—Edward Ryan, as Joe Penner.

Sixth prize—Betty Jeanne da Paoli, Shirley Temple.

Seventh prize—Richard Schutt, Harmonica player.

It was announced that this was the first of a series of entertainments to be given by the Parents' Association for the benefit of the work they are fostering.

Work of Spiking Decking of Bay Auto Bridge Is Started

After long waits and many inquiries as when the work would be done, a force of men have started spiking the loose decking of the Bay St. Louis bi-county auto bridge.

Material has been here several weeks but all was not quite in readiness to begin, it was stated. However, men are using heavy spikes electrically driven. The work is quite tedious but comparatively goes fast. Starting from the west or Bay St. Louis end of the bridge already quite a distance has already been covered, the spikes striking the boards at a point about the center of the surface of the structure.

Representatives of the State Highway Department told The Echo recently $10,000 had been set aside for this particular work and it was planned to place the bridge in a thorough and permanent condition. Already the noise, acutely heard at night over the city of rumbling, loose timbers has abated considerably.

Our people are very proud of the bridge, they know its original cost, its worth and value as a medium of convenience and it was the fear of losing this valuable acquisition to this section that caused general apprehension and concern. Funds to rebuild such bridge, it is well known, would hardly be available at present.

AARON ACADEMY SCHOOL CLOSSES SUCCESSFUL TERM

Event Attracts Many Visitors and Candidates Gather And Address the Public

Closing exercises of the county school at Aaron Academy took place Tuesday night before a large audience, after a successful term. Prof. Hubert Thigpen, principal, assisted by two teachers, Mrs. Mabel Smith and Miss Celina Stewart, report a satisfactory session, with an enrollment of 75 pupils.

Following the closing exercises a political rally followed. Candidates from various sections over the county took occasion to be present and a number addressed the voters in the interest of their respective candidacies. Refreshments were served and sold for benefit of school work and interest.

Several addresses were delivered and were well received by the many listeners. The candidates are beginning to stir and get about and soon, it appears, the campaign will be on in full swing. The campaign has started under most favorable auspices and bids fair to be one of the most harmonious and pleasant known.

Factions Clash In New Orleans Over Daylight Saving Time

The matter of adopting daylight savings time in New Orleans has become a mooted question. Well is it a subject of to be or not to be. Tuesday was the day for public hearing, representatives of pro and con much in evidence and heard from: extent that the debate became acrimonious and a halt of proceedings had to be temporarily called. Mayor Walmesley finally suggested, adopted, that the matter should be left to a vote of the people. Accordingly the question will be submitted to the voters in a referendum on April 22. This apparently satisfied the clashing factions. An election in the city of New Orleans ordinarily costs $17,000, it was authoritatively stated, but Mayor Walmesley said this one should not cost more than $500. There would be not net paid for polling booths and volunteers would serve as clerks. The printing of ballots, he said, should not cost more than $200.00.

If daylight time is finally adopted, people leaving Bay St. Louis on the 7:20 morning train will reach that city at about 8 o'clock, while it will be 9 o'clock here.

Frank Martin Opens Veritable Wonder Bar On Bay Beach Front

Frank Martin, excellent citizen and outstanding good fellow, Thursday morning of this week formally opened his new place of business to be known as "Martin's Bar," a place where ladies and gentlemen may frequent and enjoy soft drinks and beer. The well-known brand of Dixie beer will be served and patrons will always find it cold when served. To this direction a new and latest model of Crosley automatic refrigerator has been installed and the beverages will be served at the proper cold temperature at all times.

Visitor to this beautiful place will truly agree with us that it is a veritable "wonder bar." Here we find the new walls of stucco plaster effect tinted in deep ivory, with trimmings in a tone of green that blends harmoniously and effectively. The lighting fixtures and every interior accessory blends and in all a most inviting and pleasing aspect greets the visitor.

A side entrance leads to the rear section of the building, fitted with booths where party or parties may be privately seated and in such nooks and charming retreats enjoy whatever drinks they may order. Here ladies will find a dressing room, and gentlemen will find the same accommodation within the front portion of the place.

Mr. Martin is to be complimented and congratulated as well in giving the city and beach front such beautiful and representative a resort and it will prove popular this summer, and in fact at all seasons and will fill a long-felt want. Visit today, this evening. Mr. Martin invites you and a cordial reception awaits one and all. Ladies may visit at all times. The cocktail hour is all day and evenings.

FORGOTTEN MEN

POLITICAL friend and foe alike will commend Governor Conner for one of the most humane and thoughtful considerations of his life to be extended in behalf of fellowmen. For the past several days he has been at Parchman farm, the State penitentiary, devoting his time and official offices to the "forgotten men" incarcerated therein.

There are hundreds of men, either serving life terms or long time sentences, many who already have been there for years, with no one on the outside who may in any wise be of assistance in seeking recommendation of pardon or any form of executive clemency. They are many such cases where men are without friend or kin; men whose relatives have passed away or with friends whose interests have vanished with time; unfortunates who have truly become the forgotten men.

Many, the investigation proved, have already served long terms, some who have been the victim of circumstantial evidence, others who stoutly proclaim their innocence. One said he was innocent; during the examination by the governor. However, on advice of his attorney, in order to save his neck plead guilty and as sentence was given life. It was preferable to death, although, according to claim, he was innocent.

It is just such cases and hundreds of others, that Governor Conner is personally devoting his time, investigating, seeking meritorious cases where wrongs may be righted; where many who have been severely punished and repented, their spirit broken and hope gone, who are, at least, entitled to consideration after all. It seems a most merciful mission. A good and thoughtful action, for, after all, aren't we our brother's keeper?

A recent statement advises that Governor Conner has issued only 47 pardons during his three and one half years of gubernatorial service; has suspended only 182 prisoners, which is an extremely low record of the exercise of the pardoning power.

ADVERTISING THAT PAYS

WHEN The Sea Coast Echo talks about advertising the average merchant skips the article, feeling that here is propaganda against his shekels.

The exceptional merchant, however, is glad to learn what the newspaper man thinks. He may use the idea, or he may not, but he knows that he will never be hurt by considering anything.

With this introduction let us urge local advertisers to be regular. This idea has nothing to do with the use of large space or the expenditure of more money in our columns. It simply records our conviction that if a merchant is planning to use two hundred inches of advertising in two months that eight advertisements, appearing every week will do more for his business than one or two large splurges.

Advertising, like everything else, requires foresight. A merchant who expects printer's ink to work miracles is doomed to lose the money that he spends for advertising. He must put some thought into what he is saying before spending his money to say it. That done, and regularly done, will help build any business that is worthy of living.

ITALY AND ABYSSINIAN IMBROGLIO

AMERICANS who wish to understand the Italy-Abyssinian imbroglio—which is of international importance inasmuch as it is complicating the already chaotic European situation—would do well to think of it in the light of the Japan-China issue.

Like China, Abyssinia is an independent power—and like China, it is a hundred years behind the times. Italy, like Japan, is an up-to-date nation which needs new territory. China possesses a wealth of mineral resources, which Japan wants—and Abyssinia possesses a wealth of gold which Italy wants.

If Italy and Abyssinia fight, it seems inevitable that the latter will lose. Victorious Italy would then establish an Abyssinian protectorate—and reap the rich rewards.

WISDOM OF THE UNITED STATES

EUROPE has been thrown into a fever of excitement and fear by Mr. Hitler's proposal to re-arm Germany. As to extent of territory, and in many other respects, the United States may be compared to the whole of Europe, and it is interesting to note the difference in the nature of the activities in the two areas. While our friends across the sea are occupied in preparations to beat each other up, the United States is quietly engaged in the arts of peace, healing the economic wounds resulting from the last war and from bad administration at the hands of a political party which, viewed in the most charitable light, was misguided and misinformed. The United States was wise enough, in a time of crisis, to select the right man for the same degree of wisdom.

THE GREATEST HOLDING COMPANY

THE political drive is now on to destroy the power and light holding companies by means of strangulating Federal regulation. Whether the same crucifying laws will apply to holding companies for banks, food production, newspapers, automobiles and every line of large business, is not clear.

If the politicians want to completely destroy the confidence of the investor and hold up recovery indefinitely, they are going about it in the right way.

Holding companies have been responsible for great industrial development in our country.

The United States Government is the biggest holding company in the world. It stands in the same position toward the 48 states as does an electric holding company that has an interest in 48 operating companies.

The United States Government finances its operations through borrowings, bonds and note issues, subscribed to by the taxpayers (stockholders) of the various states and, in turn, renders services to most states that they could not provide for themselves.

An electric holding company does the same thing for its operating companies—it marshals financial resources and renders services which small, isolated operating companies could not provide for themselves.

Today the Government, in duplicating power development in an uncalled-for manner, is "pyramiding" the power supply of the nation with taxpayers' funds, in a way that would be condemned unqualifiedly if private electric holding companies dissipated stockholders' money in such a wasteful manner.

The life savings of countless thousands of stockholders in electric properties will be ruined if the present political program against private enterprise in the electric industry, is continued. Billions of tax funds will be swallowed in the maw of political experiments.

Politicians who hurl charges of pyramiding at private holding companies, had better look to their own pyramiding activities with public funds, in the name of Government.

Private enterprise in the United States faces a fight to the finish to save itself from complete socialization in the next ten years. And when one speaks of private enterprise, that means the private citizen—the man who runs a business by himself, or the one who employs ten or ten thousand men. Government ownership of any industry destroys the rights of individuals to do business.

These facts are fundamental. They may be camouflaged under various political guises, but they remain the same—an individual cannot compete with government in business, once it enters a field of activity.

The power question is merely an incident in the economic trend that is carrying our country closer and closer to the regimentation programs of Russia and Germany where the individual is merely a cog in the great governmental machine.

Governor Conner, in summing up the total amount of funds that have come to Mississippi for federal relief, states that the state has received approximately $33,000,000 in various forms of relief, including the P. W. A., C. W. A., and F. E. R. A. distributions.

FACTS AND FIGURES YOU SHOULD KNOW

IT IS impossible to exaggerate the importance of the German refusal to continue to keep within the arms stipulations of the Versailles treaty. It has been feared that she would do this ever since Hitler went in—and every nation hoped against hope that it would never happen. Under the Treaty, Germany's army is limited to 100,000 men, and she is not allowed to have much in the way of aircraft, artillery, tanks. Now she will quadruple her army, greatly extend compulsory military training of citizens, and will build up her defensive and offensive equipment as much as she likes.

Inevitable result will be a boom in the munitions industries—and another long step toward European war. Every European country will, supposedly in self-defense, also increase armaments and armies. It is easy for diplomats to speak soothingly of security and to avow peaceful intentions—it is a historical fact that nations with first-class military machines usually want to try them out when they think the time is ripe.

Armed forces of principal nations total: Russia, $30,000 with 15,000,000 reserves; Great Britain, 200,000 with 280,000 reserves; France, 584,000, with 6,000,000 reserves; Italy, 437,000, with 5,000,000 reserves; Poland, 325,000, with 1,700,000 reserves. The United States, by way of comparison, has an army of 135,000, with 309,000 reserves.

Answering an inquiry from Hon. Alf Stone, chairman of the State Tax Commission, which commission is charged with the collection of license fees and the enforcement of the beer and wine law, Attorney General Greek L. Rice has held that the Tax Commission Chairman has no authority to enforce the prohibition laws of the State. The Attorney General holds that the criminal procedure for violators of prohibition laws has been confined by the legislature to the local governments exclusively.

ONE PASTOR WORRIED

WE see where a pastor in a large city asserts that "increasing knowledge of the physical universe is making it constantly more difficult for thoughtful people, especially among the young, to believe in God."

The reverend is unduly excited. Most thoughtful people believe in God—they only differ in defining what they mean by God. It is a hard definition to offer. The race, as a whole, knows so little about the Creator that the Divine Being cannot be fully explained.

What worries the brother and others like him, some of them here, is that many "thoughtful people" disagree with his conception of God. This is well—it would, indeed, be a sorry divinity that could be defined in full by present-day human beings.

MERELY THEORETICAL

By GEORGE E. SCHILLING

PRACTICAL ECONOMICS

A NEW YORK correspondent reports, under date of March 19, that a new scheme to revive export trade is under consideration in expert circles. It is better to quote his own words:

"New York learns that the Washington chiefs are also concocting an entirely new dish to gratify heavy industry's appetite. It involves direct cash grants, not loans, to corporations doing an export business to cover any deficits they may incur by underselling foreign competition based on cheaper labor (or money). The subsidy is to enable American firms to get the jump in world markets, thereby stimulating industrial activity without having to cut wage costs."

You do not fully understand this scheme. Do not worry, neither does this columnist, the columnist who reported it, nor anybody else. It is clear that it is a desperate attempt to combine eighteenth century thinking (bounties were unpopular in the nineteenth) with twentieth century facts, which is a favorite amusement of many people nowadays. Forty years ago we needed expert business to pay the debts which we then owed abroad, to pay for tourist expenditures and immigrant remittances to Europe. Now it is assumed that that we need expert business to get rid of the things we cannot use ourselves, this in spite of the fact that the outside world already owes us about three times as much as it can possibly pay us, and that we cannot accept payment in goods without wrecking American business even worse, because we cannot consume the imports.

The notions that produce this curious kind of project are probably something like this: In order to improve business and thus promote recovery from the depression we have to control prices. Putting prices up by artificial means will increase profits, which are our main consideration, but will reduce consumption. Letting prices fall naturally would increase consumption, but would almost completely destroy profits. We cannot put prices up and down in the same place at the same time, but we can put prices up at home and down in other countries all at the same time. Now we assume as axiomatic that export trade is of the very greatest importance in keeping our business profitable, as has been explained at length in our best magazines. The only handicap is that we are perfectly certain to lose money if we try to stimulate it. Hence, if we tax ourselves to pay the losses, business can enjoy its profits, and we will be helping the world by taxing ourselves so that foreigners can have more and we can have less. That is, we pay taxes in order that we may favor foreigners at the expense of our own poorer citizens.

As a bit of tangled-up economic thinking, this idea is the best we have yet seen mentioned. You might not believe it, but folks get whooping big salaries and commissions and any amount of reputation by thinking up things like that. Even funnier is the way they bawl out those who fail to agree with them as impractical theorists, and publicly praise themselves as practical men with no nonsense about them at all.

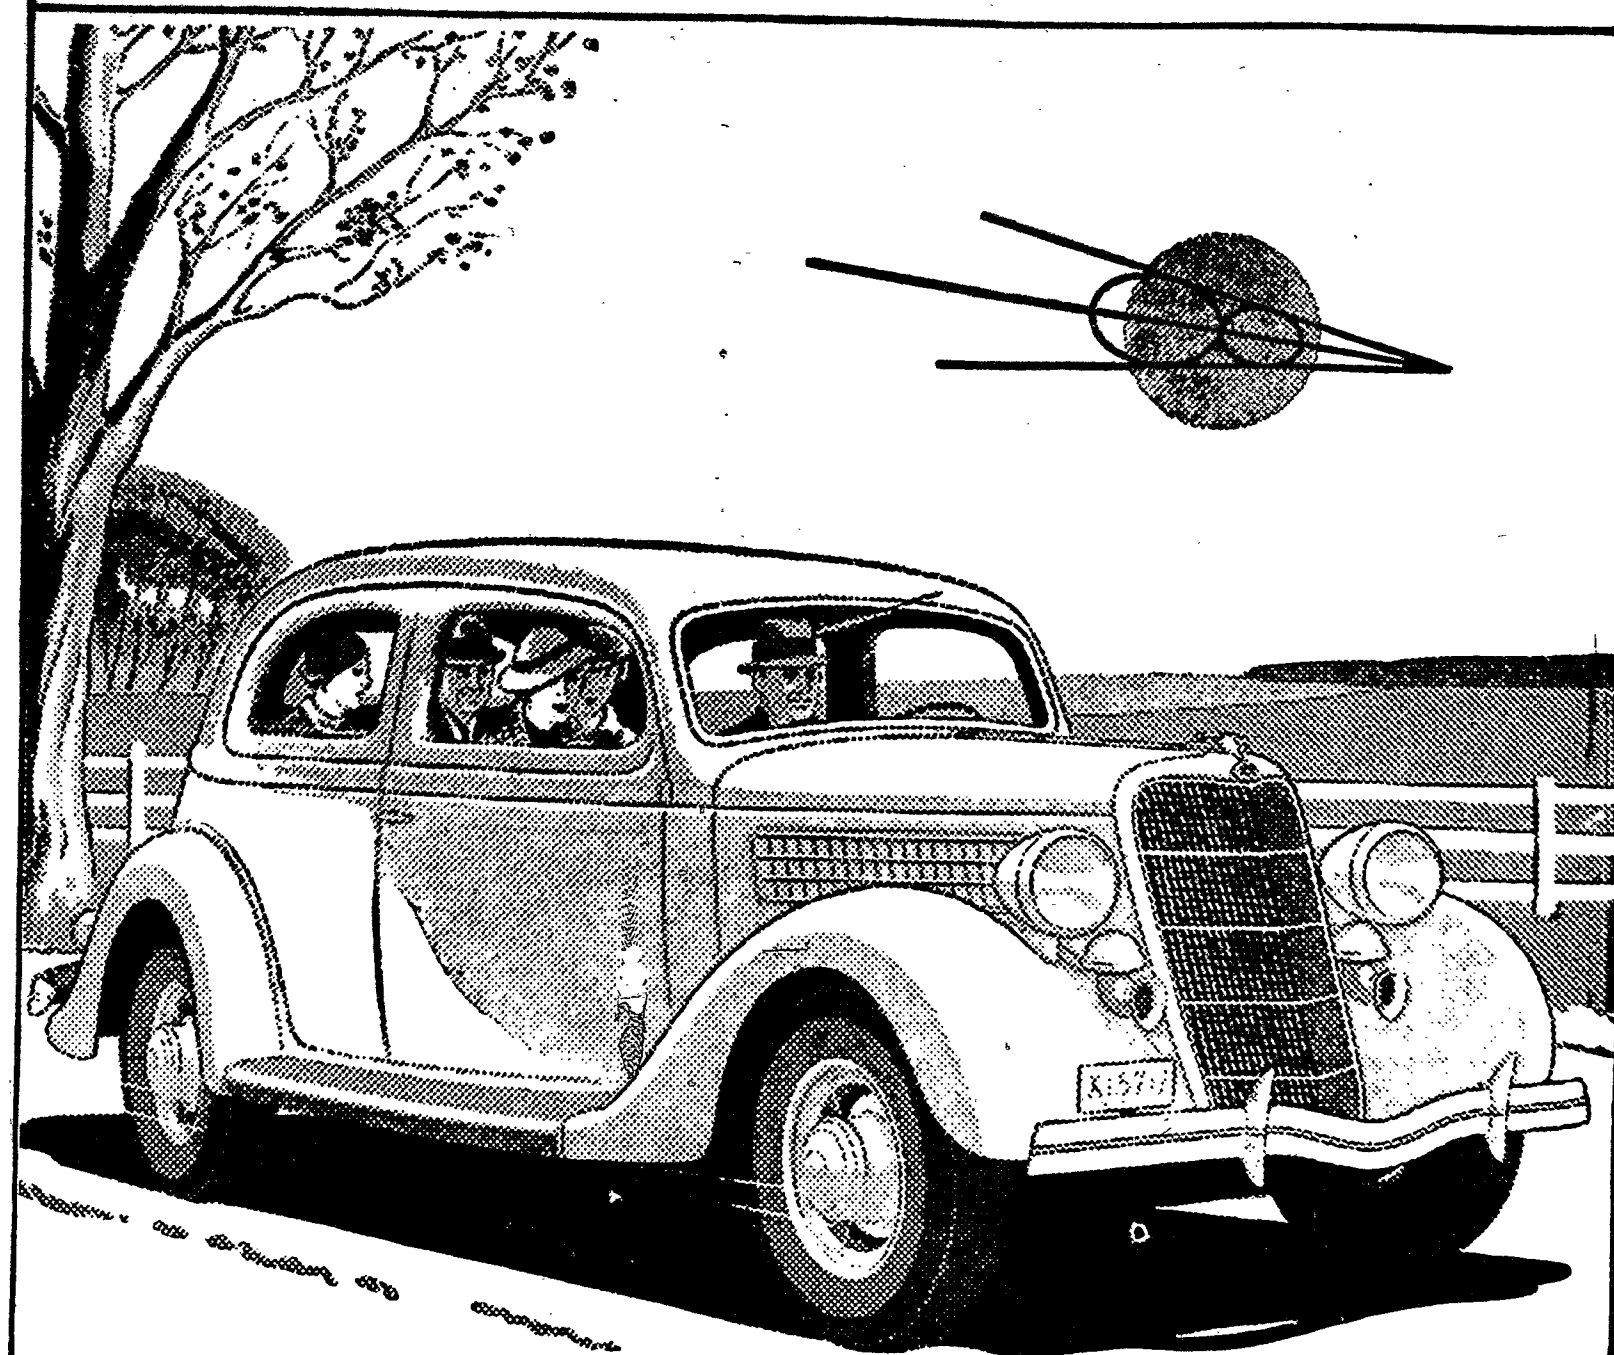

Of course neither Adam Smith, John Stuart Mill, nor any of the other standard economists ever imagined any such goofy economics as this, except to condemn it unsparringly. These men have been accused, on excellent grounds, of having brains. Our practical men of affairs scornfully repudiate the idea of using brains in framing legislation. What they depend on is hard, practical common sense.

In the good old days of Coolidge prosperity, which probably should not be mentioned under a Democratic administration, we used to encourage foreign trade to dispose of surplus production by lending our foreign customers the money to pay for our goods, but this scheme eventually fell through when our sucker investors refused to buy more money bonds of busted customers. Under these circumstances there is left to our practical exporting corporations only one place to get the money to pay them, that is, the United States treasury.

In place of this practical scheme of hiring ourselves to give away goods to foreigners, the mere theorist would suggest the very difficult task of arranging better to distribute them so that we might consume them ourselves. The practical answer to that is that we have our own people right here under our thumbs where we can keep 'em down, but the foreigner is where we have to make inducements to him. Any notion of improving the condition of our own people is, of course, wildly impractical and simply crazy.

There is a practical side to the bit of far-fetched theory sketched in the New York dispatch, but it is not particularly nice, and so an impolite subject for discussion in this column. However, we seem to see difficulties in the way of the passage of any such appropriation. Neither the ordinary voter, nor even the ordinary congressman would be apt to get wildly enthusiastic about paying cash grants to the Bethlehem Steel Company, the DuPont Powder Company, or the General Motors Company, even in the cause of increased exports.

FORD V-8

In A Class By Itself

THERE is no way to compare the Ford V-8 with any other car because there is no other car like it.

The Ford enables you to step up into the fine-car class in performance, beauty, comfort and safety. But there is no stepping up in price. That is kept down by Ford low-profit policies and unique manufacturing methods. These are as different as the car itself.

It takes eight cylinders to give the modern performance you need these days. The Ford is powered by a V-8—the finest type of eight-cylinder engine. You have to pay more than $2000 for that in any other car.

GRAFT IN NATIONAL AFFAIRS?

(Clayton Rand in The Guide)

THE popular suspicion that national affairs are spotted here and there with graft is no doubt justified in part; but it's just as safe a bet that there's no more of the sub-rosa in public affairs than there is in private ones.

Did you ever hear of a couple of salesmen ganging up on a hard customer? Or farmer trying to get a higher bid out of a buyer by telling him of a better offer from another quarter?

Or a couple of neighbors getting together to fool an insurance adjuster?

Perhaps you know it's rather common practice to try to fool the assessor on the value of your property—or did you think you were the only one?

Maybe you have heard of some attempts at sharp practice in the recent cotton sign-up.

Sometimes you hear of children being told by parents to falsify their age when buying theater or circus admissions; or railroad fares.

Agres of horses and cows are not always correctly given when a sale is involved. Eggs not entirely fresh sometimes are sold to grocers with out hurting the seller's conscience, hardened to the practice.

Doctors, it is said, sometimes have little agreements among themselves regarding a wealthy client; lawyers, ditto. Merchants sometimes incorrectly describe the merits of their goods.

In fact, we can think of "graft" possibilities in all lines but the newspaper business, and we'll let you do the thinking on that.

Yes, there's doubtless a little graft here and there in national affairs because national affairs are run by people just like you and me.

IT ALWAYS PAYS TO LOOK NEARER HOME

(Brandon News)

SOME folks get a lot of pleasure in the thought of pleasures denied others.

The editor of the Clarksdale Daily News sees as a "silver lining" in the recent Pearl River flood, the fact that it closed the Rankin Pike and prevented festive and sinful Jacksonians from visiting the resorts on that Pike which cater to their amusement.

"The Pearl River separates Jackson from East Jackson, and in the latter place bootleggers, roadhouses, cheap dance halls and night clubs of uncertain status abound in unlimited quantities," notes the News.

"Jackson folks get these places of vice via Highway No. 80, which highway is inundated shutting off citizens of the Capital City from their pleasure haunts."

If it doesn't embarrass our pious and worthy brother up in Clarksdale, we'll ask how he acquired the personal and detailed knowledge of these "places of vice" on the Pike indicated and betrayed by his comment?

We hesitate to destroy some of his saintly satisfaction but, in the interests of truth and accuracy, we remind him that the blocking of the Pike did not seriously inconvenience many of the festive Jacksonians. They are not and never were dependent on the places of vice and pleasure which admittedly operate on the Pike.

Every highway out of Jackson, including even that sweet road to Canton, has such places. Others are inside the city limits. And, to the best of our knowledge, there is only one hotel in Jackson in which earnest sin-and-pleasure-seeker can't buy anything he can buy on the Pike, except possibly chips in a crap game. "Brother it will take more than a Pearl River flood to wash Jackson clean, and at least a major Mississippi river flood to clean out all of Clarksdale's dens and dives. Take a look around your own home town, Mr. Editor. Then pray for rain.

TWO MORE NAILS

(Brandon News)

TWO more nails were driven recently into the Constitutional Convention coffin which Governor Conner still hopes to resurrect and reopen.

Special elections in Adams and Wilkinson counties result in the naming of legislators outspoken in their opposition to any Constitutional Convention.

Excuse us from weeping, Mike, for we haven't an onion handy.

ROOSEVELT AND BILBO

(Jackson News)

WHEN President Roosevelt gave an informal reception the other night in honor of new members of Congress, our own Senator Theodore Gilmore Bilbo was seated right smack-dab on the President's right side, and they chatted as chummily as a pair of thieves peacefully dividing the loot. It may have been only a coincidence, and not the inspiration or incentive for this singular favor, but on the previous day, when Senator Bilbo was asked what he thought of Huey Long's latest speech he tersely replied: "I didn't hear him say anything that would make me think," perhaps F. D. R. wanted to find out what it takes to make Theodore think.

THIS OUGHT TO SETTLE IT!

(Jackson Daily News)

THOSE young collegians who are planning a "strike" on April 12th to express their so-called determination not to go to war under any circumstances ought to read Travis Ingram's new story, "Young Gentlemen Rise." It will enable them to see themselves as others see them. Mr. Ingram says that no group in American life seems quite so shallow, callow and futile as the run-of-the-mill of our collegiate youth, and he writes about them with robust gusto. He declares that no argot is so flavorless, unimaginative, spurious, artificial and witless as the jargon of the campus, and particularly that among Yale undergraduates. "They are youthful infants whose vainglorious deeds, puppy itches, childish mentalities and baby emotions can scarcely be taken seriously except as phenomena," says Mr. Ingram. Well, that ought to shatter vanity in a few spots, anyway.

It was nice of Senator Bilbo to get his friend, Bidwell Adam, former Lieut. Gov., a job as member of the advisory board of the rivers and harbors committee. Bidwell doesn't live on a river, and his home town, Pass Christian is certainly not a harbor for anything save the smallest yachts but Bidwell has an inquisitive and omnivorous mind, and will doubtless learn all that is necessary to be learned about his new position—which isn't very much. Congress gets all its authentic advice on rivers and harbors from the board of army engineers.—Jackson News.

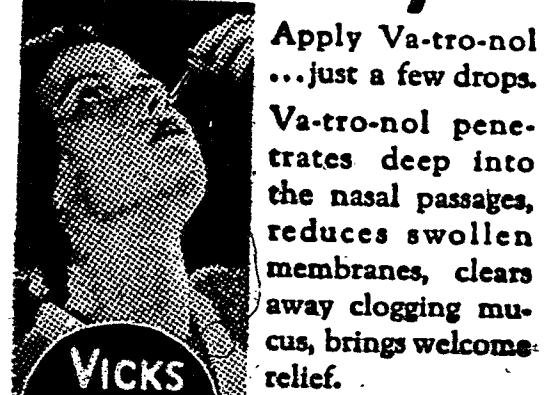

Bidwell has plenty of native ability. He might give his superiors cards and spades. Moore never visited the Far East. Yet his poem Lalla Rook will live down the ages.

With The Movies And Film Folks

IT SEEMS that Charlie Chaplin has finally decided on a name for his forthcoming production, which up to this time has been called Production No. 5. He has definitely decided to call it "The Masses." While it may be completed this Spring it will not be released until the Fall when Chaplin will take it to Broadway, hire a theater and release it to the public gaze—the first picture in four and a half years.

Margot Grahame, English actress, will make her film debut in RKO Radio's "The Informer." She recently arrived in this country from England and after a short visit in New York, departed for Hollywood.

Known while in production as "Now I'm a Lady" and "How Am I Doing?" Paramount has finally decided to call Mae West's latest picture, "Going to Town."

An all-star cast has been assembled to support Marion Davies in her next picture, "Page Miss Glory." Among those named so far are Dick Powell, Pat O'Brien, Mary Astor, Frank McHugh and William Gargan. Mervyn LeRoy is to direct and the picture will be produced by Cosmopolitan and released through Warner Brothers.

Noah Beery will appear with Conrad Veidt in the Gaumont British production of "The King of the Damned." The picture will be made in England during the Spring.

Alexander Powell, historian and authority on Garibaldi has been engaged by Paramount to prepare the necessary script for a screen play dealing with the exploits of this Italian hero. No actor has been mentioned yet for the title role.

Merle Oberon has been secured by Samuel Goldwyn from Alexander Korda, head of London Films, for two Goldwyn pictures during the next two years. Her first will be the principal role in "Dark Angel," work on which is to begin about June 1st.

Maurice Chevalier, sailed recently for a vacation in France, having completed his most recent work in Hollywood.

Columbia has purchased "Theodore Goes Wild," by Mary McCarthy and will soon convert it into a photoplay.

Genevieve Tobin will replace Claire Dodd in "Men of Her Mind," in which Bette Davis will also be starred by Warner Brothers. Miss Dodd is temporarily working at another studio.

Edmund Lowe is to have the main role in "Champaigne Charlie," which is to be produced by Fox from a story by that name by Gene Markey.

June Knight was forced by illness to relinquish a part in Jesse L. Lasky's Fox Film musical, "Red-Headed on Parade," and was replaced by Dixie Lee, who, by the way, is the wife of Bing Crosby, radio and screen star.

The oldest motion picture comedy team—Laurel and Hardy—have agreed to disagree, according to Hal Roach, producer of their pictures. The comedians were unable to agree on stories, it seems.

Rochelle Hudson, petite motion picture actress of ingenue roles, recently went to New York from Hollywood in order to acquire some "so-phistication" preparatory to playing a strong film role.

Katherine Hepburn's "The Little Minister" Notable Screen Event

Heralded as a challenge to all the star's previous successes, and as one of the big events of the motion picture year is the screen version of Sir James Barrie's hauntingly-beautiful romance, "The Little Minister," which serves Katherine Hepburn as her new vehicle.

For this picture RKO-Radio recreated the quaint charm of Thums in Scotland, and around it director Richard Wallace has staged a romance with all the qualities of whimsical delicacy which Barrie expressed.

The settings, which show the village of Thums, while realistic and picturesque, are said to be quite different from those used in former productions of the story, more nearly authentic, and much more pretentious.

Katherine Hepburn re-creates in her inimitable mood the character of Babbie made famous on the stage by Maude Adams. Amid the wild and untamed Scottish moors the elfish Babbie leads her persecutors and her love a merry chase.

Richard Wallace, who directed the making of the Barrie classic, has made his romance around the Auld Licht Kirk one of strange and haunting charm. John Beal, from the Broadway stage, is said to play the role of the "Little Minister" with a splendid touch. That favorite trouper Alan Hale, is also featured as the forthright town drunkard Bob Dow. Other colorful roles are played by Beryl Mercer, Donald Crisp, Lumsden Hare, Mary Gordon, Andy Clyde, Dorothy Stickney, Harry Beresford and Barlowe Borland.

Huey Long's National Ambitions Confront Many Obstacles

HUEY LONG'S rise to power in Louisiana based as it was on political action, cannot be the pattern for a presidential campaign in 1936 or 1940, Will Irwin, noted war correspondent and author, indicated in an article appearing in Liberty Magazine.

The veteran newspaper man has just completed a searching analysis of Huey's methods to win Louisiana. He implies that the Kingfish's popular "share the wealth" slogan was only incidental to the political machine that solidified his hold on the state since becoming governor in 1928.

"The strangest and most unpatriotic figure in this country since the Civil War," Mr. Irwin sees the Kingfish as a man who has marched to absolute authority in the southern state by political tactics unparalleled anywhere in the country.

"But the same instrument to gain power will not be available in a national campaign. Nor will he have the unwavering loyalty of political appointees to fight his national battles," Irwin suggests.

Fly Casting Year Is Forecast For Fisherman in '35

Chicago, March 16.—This is going to be a "fly casting year," according to the reports which are coming in via the fisherman's grapevine system of forecasting the season's outlook. Now that spring is beginning to stage its slow approach and the trout season is only a few weeks ahead, attention is being focused on the sport of catching fish by means of a long rod and feathered lures. The prophecy is that more anglers are going to be using fly tackle this year than ever before.

This department has consistently urged that fishermen learn how to use both the bait and fly casting rod, because knowledge of how and when to use the two methods of catching fish gives more fun out of his fishing. There is a great thrill in tossing a small feathered lure which imitates a form of insect life, watching the fish rush to the surface to take it, and then playing the fish with a long, slim, resilient rod. Secondly, there are many days in the season when a fly rod will catch more fish than any other form of angling.

This year the fisherman who is about to start fly fishing has the largest choice to tackle and needs to spend the least money of any season that we know of. By "least money" we mean this: Whereas in former years an angler had to dig deep in his purse for his fly fishing equipment to secure a serviceable rod, a good reel, and a well-made line, today one can buy an American made outfit that will catch plenty of fish for just a fraction of what it cost some years ago.

One of the best ways to learn to fly fish is to get some expert coaching from a man who knows the game. Within a few weeks one can get such coaching right on the front lawn because warm spring days are ideal for outdoor practice with a fly rod, and casting on the lawn is an excellent way to start that practice.

Barbara Hutton Mdivani Could Not Reconcile Herself To a Master

DIVORCE FOR Prince Alexis Mdivani and his wife, the former Barbara Hutton, was almost certain from the start in view of their conflicting ideals of marriage, believes Adela Rogers St. Johns, writing in Liberty Magazine this week.

Brought up in the American tradition that a wife should enjoy equal status with her husband, the Woolworth heiress was "unprepared for marriage with a European who expected her to follow in his footsteps," Miss St. Johns writes after a searching study of their married life.

"Definitely generous, an extremely loyal friend and a good sport, Barbara is also a kind hearted, amusing, decent young woman whom

WASHINGTON NOTES

RFC TAKES CHARGE

The RFC has taken control of Public Utilities Securities Corporation, key holding unit of Harley C. Clarke's system, which was second only to that of Insull. When the famous $90,000,000 loan was made to the old Dawes bank a block of stock, equal to control, was among the assets given as collateral.

CHEAPER THAN PRINTING

Amazing as it may sound, the government is borrowing money cheaper than it can print greenbacks! Gov. Eccles, of the Federal Reserve Board, told members of the House Banking committee that it costs 0.15 per cent to print, replace, ship and insure bills in circulation. Recently the government borrowed money for 180 days, at 0.11 per cent. Last May, 90-day loans were secured at 0.06 per cent.

40,000 U. S. POLICE

Police forces of the Federal Government now number 40,000, with the largest units being the Coast Guard and Department of Justice.

ON VACATION

While most presidents made it a habit to stick around Washington when Congress was in session Mr. Roosevelt does not hesitate to take his vacation and fishing trips, which break the routine and permit him to get out among the people.

NO NEW NAVAL TREATY

The general feeling is that further progress in limiting naval armament is not to be expected in view of the general idea that present treaties will expire without being replaced by new ones. The fact that France has announced two new 35,000-ton battleships emphasizes the view.

BONUS OUTLOOK

What the Senate will do about the bonus remains to be seen, but it is pointed out that 45 members who opposed the bonus at the last session are still in the Senate. So far no pressure has been applied by the Administration. However, the American Legion says that 16 Senators, who oppose the Patman bill, will vote for the Vinson bill. Talk of a compromise continues.

N. R. A. LAPSES IN JUNE

Hearings on the N. R. A. continue with indications that some Congressional action will be taken in time to prevent the lapse of the whole undertaking on June 15, when the present law expires. Confusion will certainly reign supreme if nothing is enacted affecting codes, maximum hours and minimum wages, etc., before that date.

NOT TO FIGHT COUGHLIN

Reports are that while New Dealers will continue to attack Senator Long, they will adopt no such measures against Father Coughlin, the Detroit priest, who is expected, generally, to be with them more often than against them and a help, maybe, in 1936.

WANTS ALL OF IT

The President last week made plain that he would insist upon the social security program although a petition had been signed a vote on the old age pensions measure divorced from other features.

SEEKS NEW RULE

The newly formed bloc in the House wants to liberalize rules of procedure by permitting 145 members to force any measure upon the floor. This was the rule for several years until changed this year to 213.

Failing to understand why the Prince ran off to India while Barara was ill in an English hospital, Miss Rogers says, "There never seemed to be a peaceful moment for the Mdivanis."

Personal and General*A SWELL FELLA—REX!
HERE'S A HUMAN INTEREST STORY PAR EXCELLENCE.

Newspaper writers and others are forever seeking human interest stories—actual happenings that tug at the heart strings; that arouse our sympathies, make our eyes well and prove all-absorbing. And the unusual in this line is always in demand.

Here is a swell story along this line. One that happened not thousands of miles from our own bawls, occurring on Mardi Gras day in the city south of the State dividing line.

Sue Bryan, who writes daily for the New Orleans Item, under the feature head of "Chat," recently gave the story, as follows:

When the regal float of Rex ran down that little girl during the parade Tuesday, Rex, alias Garner Tullis, showed himself every inch a king . . . and we don't mean the Romanoff variety.

He saw the wheel roll over the child's left arm, and yelled for the horses to stop. Then he jumped down, asked for the child's name, called for a doctor. When the morbid crowd closed in on the suffering child and her saviors, he yelled at them to make way, so that the young victim could be taken into a drugstore nearby. Some maskers, farther back, who couldn't see what was going on called for him to get back on his throne and continue the parade. Some of the men on the floats called for the parade to be resumed.

"To hell with the parade!" he called, half on and half off the float, and yelling directions for the safety of the injured little girl.

And, finally, when the child was safe, and in doctor's hands, and Garner Tullis was Rex again on his throne, there arose such applause in the mammoth crowd as would tear a Caruso or a Bernhardt with envy.
